

Working with Babies

The most important people

Overview

The aim of this session is to support staff in ensuring a sensory rich environment for babies where relationships are valued and individual needs and learning styles are respected

Who is it for?

This session is for all staff working with children under 2 and their families

Outcomes

By the end of the session participants will:

- Recognise the importance of respectful personal care routines and how these should form the basis for the learning curriculum
- Develop thinking about the environment and how carefully it should reflect home
- Understand the importance of diversity and equality for very young children
- Identify the key components to developing respectful and reciprocal relationships with the youngest children
- Be able to develop practical strategies for managing the varied needs of babies and respecting parent's wishes
- Value work with babies and very young children as the start of their learning journey

Format

This is a full day workshop
